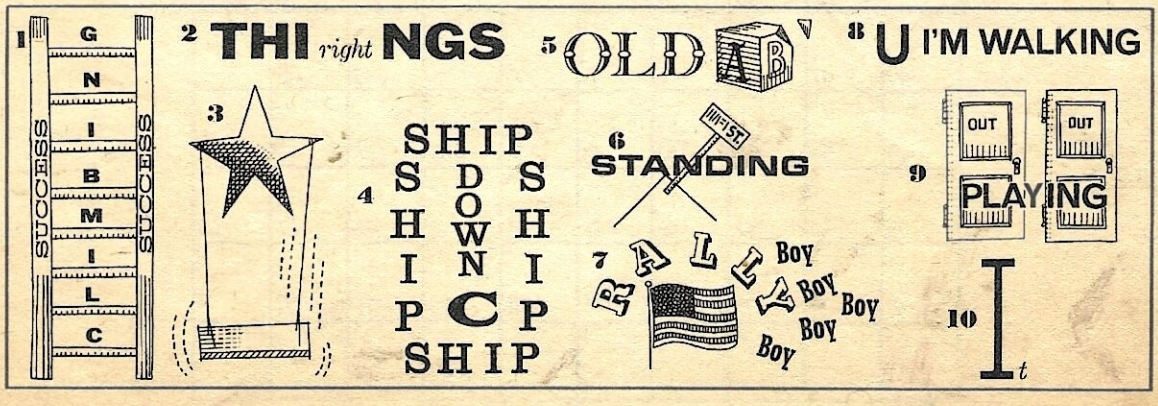
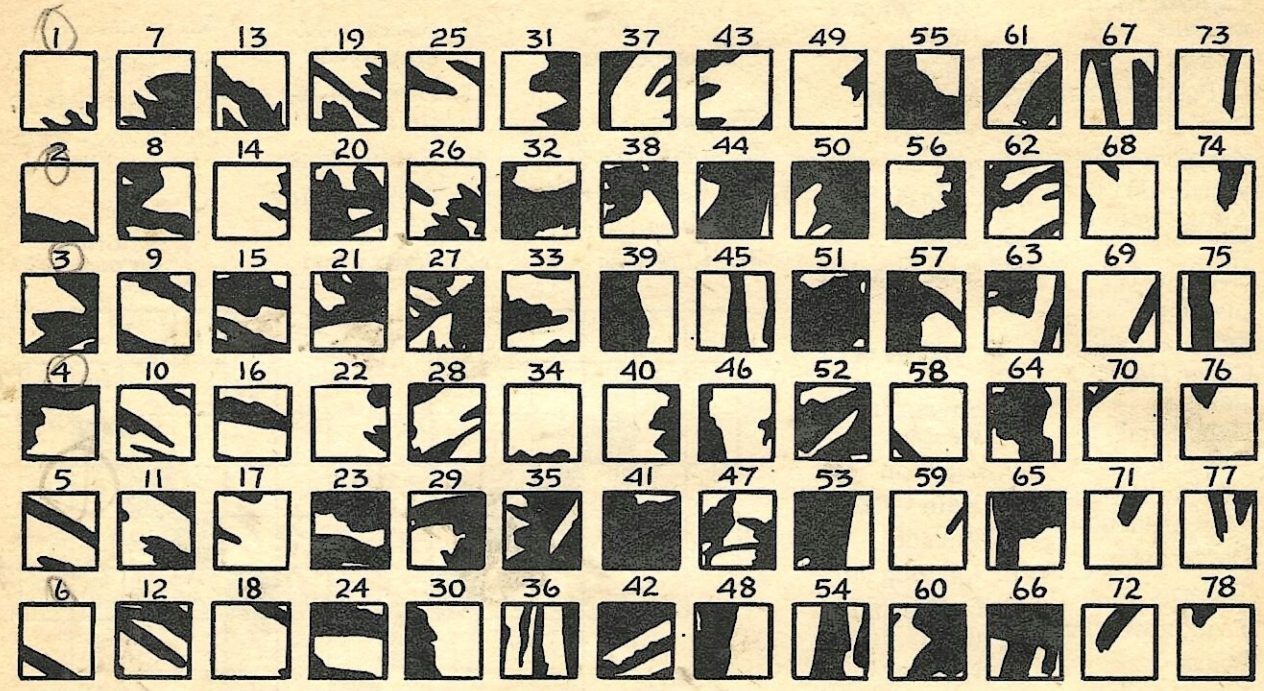
CAN YOU PICTURE THIS?

You can have some fun now if you will look over the drawings and mutilated words below and try to identify the well-known expressions, titles, phrases, or words they suggest. For example, No. 8 is "I'm Walking Behind You".

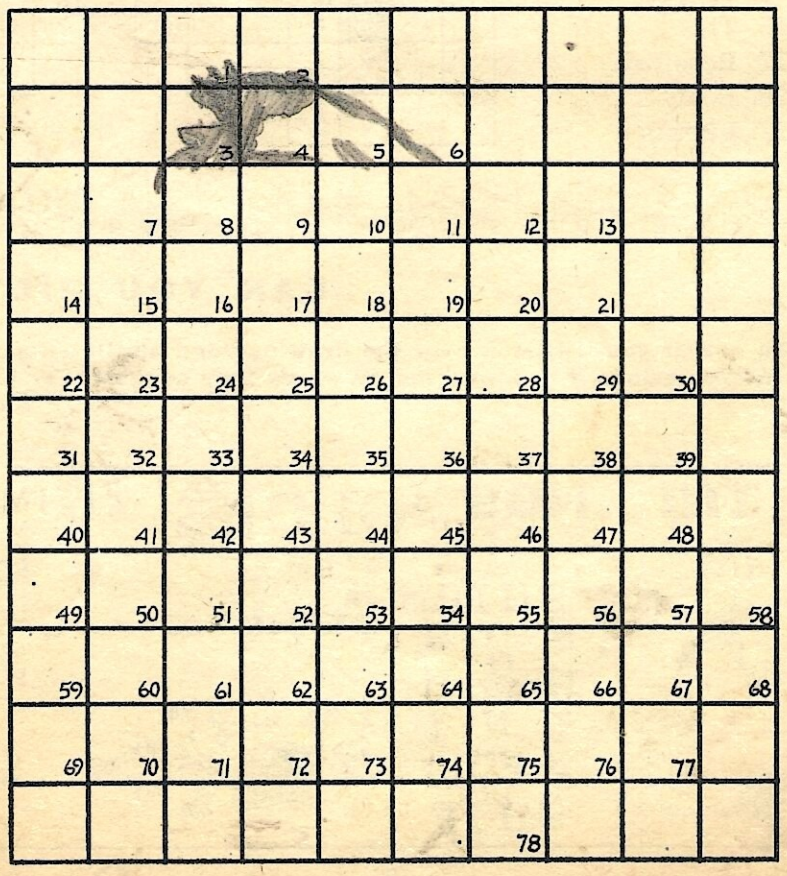
Answers are on page 65.



SKILL-O-GRAM



Each square above contains part of a complete picture which is to be copied into the diagram below. Use the numbers as a guide and sketch exactly what you see in each top square into the matching numbered square below. The result will be a complete picture, as skillfully done as if by an artist. A thumbnail description of the completed picture is on page 66.



CRYPTOQUIZZES

Cryptoquiz puzzles are groups of related words which have been enciphered in simple substitution codes. This means you'll find a set of other letters has been substituted for the correct characters of the words in each of the following groups. The title of a group will give you a hint as to what the disguised word may be. Then look for words which might betray themselves by their distinctive spellings. When you've identified a word, the known letters will help you to decipher other words in the group. Each group contains one or two recognizable words, and each group has its own code.

CRYPTOGRAMS

In cryptograms you are given sentences in which one set of letters is substituted for another. The words are in their right order with a space after each. For example: A BIG CAT, M SWX UMY. Here M is substituted for A, S for B, W for I, etc. You can break each code by watching for the frequency of certain letters or the way they are grouped. You know that a single letter is usually A or I, that the word THE occurs very often in our language, as does AND. Try IS, IT, OF, and other common words when you find a group of two letters.

You'll find the solutions on page 66.

TOOLS OF THE TRADE

. . . by HERBERT E. SMITH

SYRACUSE SALLY, seated alone at the corner table of the crowded dining room of the swank Midtown Hotel, was unhappy for it was the tag-end of April, and her sweet, safe, little racket was about over for awhile.

Sally stared down at the one bivalve left in the iced plate from her order of half a dozen Chesapeake oysters on the half shell.

She was aware that her waiter had shown obvious distaste in serving her. Sally knew why. Though freshly made up, her simple print dress was a far cry from the stylish modes of the other women diners. Moreover, she was unescorted. The waiter had her pegged as a cheap, passing patron, good for no more than a dime tip—if that. No wonder he had been giving her the fish-eye throughout her slowly consumed meal; it was so apparent he was eager to have her gone and her table taken by more affluent diners.

But her waiter had taken his cold eye from her for a moment and now Sally had placed her hand into her mouth and quickly removed a smooth, round object.

She gazed down at the little pinkish pill-like object in distaste. In a flash, the hovering waiter was at her side.

"Anything wrong, miss?"

"There certainly is!" Sally nodded down at the small object in the palm of her hand. "Just look at what I bit into just now—a pebble! Why, I might have broken a tooth on it—or worse, even swallowed it!"

"Please, Miss, lower your voice! I'm sure we can adjust this—er—little incident". His husky voice was low, but tremulous; his glistening eyes were upon the small stone. Sally read the signs aright and went into her line, from the well-remembered script.

"Little incident, indeed! I want to see the dining-room steward about this!"

The waiter bent lower, and his voice was almost deferential now. "Look, young lady. I'm sure I can make the necessary adjustment, here and now. Naturally, we want to maintain our excellent reputation here at Midtown. So—if you'll just let me have that—er—pebble and forget about this unpleasantness, I'd be happy to let you have five dollars from my own pocket. After all, I am responsible for this section of tables. Five dollars, young lady—and I'll take care of your dining-room tab, naturally."

Sally went into her routine. "Five dollars, indeed! Why, it would have cost me at least twice that for the dental bill, if I had bitten down hard on that pebble! And just suppose I'd swallowed that little stone!"

The waiter, bowing even lower over her, nodded slightly, his eager eyes still fastened upon the tiny pink globe in Sally's grasp. How well she knew what was racing through the waiter's mind!

"She's a simple little file clerk or something . . . the litt'- dope has no idea she's come up with a pearl from an oyste . . . not much of a specimen, to be sure . . . just a small one . . . worth only about twenty bucks, at the most. However. . . ."

"All right, miss. Ten dollars, then. And now, if you'll let me have that pebble, and your dinner check . . ."

Some minutes later, a block away from the hotel, and ten dollars and a free sea-food meal the richer, Syracuse Sally boarded a city bus for her transient room across town.

Not much of a racket going for her, she had to admit. It necessitated almost monthly moves to other cities, too. Still—ten dollars here and there, four or five times a week, added up. And no need to report that "extra income" on the annual tax returns.

Sally sighed softly, gazing across the street at the closed five-and-dime store. She wouldn't be going in there, purchasing the cheap strand of imitation pearls which were her "tools of the trade" for her own special racket.

No, that particular racket of hers was out, Sally realized. For the next few months, anyway, she couldn't work it.

WHY?

ENDLESS JOURNEY

. . . by BEN BERKEY

KING SILO, one of those great sovereigns who kept alive the flame of Spanish patriotism during the Moorish domination in the Iberian Peninsula, built the beautiful Church of San Salvador in his capital, Oviedo, and composed for his tomb a most unusual inscription. This inscription is to be seen carved on the tomb at the entrance of the Church of San Salvador. The words are in Latin. It is reproduced at right. If you start from the center letter S, no matter in which direction you start—providing you turn at right angles, you can always pass through these letters:

SILO PRINCEPS FECIT

which means: "KING SILO ERECTED THIS CHURCH". The journey may be made in over 200 different directions, and the result will always be the same.

KEY LETTER SCORE PUZZLE

Add any letter to each word below and then rearrange the letters to form a new word. No plurals, proper nouns, or foreign words are allowed. Place this word over the blank dashes. When all the new words are in place, circle the one letter that appears the most times in the third column. This is your key letter and you get 10 points every time it appears as the middle letter in one of the new words. Score 5 points for each anagram you make. Our solution is on page 65.

Time limit: 15 minutes

Average score: 100 points Superior score: 120 points

Bunker Hill Day June 17th.

A COLORFUL CHOICE

When Messrs. Black, White, Brown, and Green left the restaurant each of them took, by mistake, the hat belonging to another man and a coat belonging to still another man. The man who took Mr. Green's hat took Mr. Brown's coat. The hat taken by Mr. Brown belonged to the owner of the coat taken by Mr. Green. Mr. Black took Mr. White's hat. Can you tell who must have taken Mr. Black's coat?

LETTER ADDITION

In this quiz, add a letter (or letters) to both sides of the letters listed below so that they will form 10 everyday words of the shortest possible length. No proper nouns, abbreviations, or contractions. You may not add an ending "s" to form a plural. To score yourself: count one point for each letter you add, and add 5 points to your score for each word you cannot form. We added a total of 26 letters.

FAMOUS BROTHERS AND SISTERS

See how many of these well-known brothers and sisters you can identify. Most of them are contemporary, but 3 families lived during the 18th and/or 19th century — none are fictional. Each person is listed by his or her real name, but as a little hint, those marked with a star (*) are better known by nicknames or other names, which, in most cases are not similar to the real names. If you know 12, you're an expert — 9 and you're very good.

CROSS SUMS

A "definition" here is the TOTAL of the numbers to be written into the indicated squares. No zeros are used here and no number higher than nine. An important point: a number cannot appear more than once in any particular group. For example, when 16-Across calls for a total of TEN, you will know that the numbers for these squares can only be an arrangement of 1, 2, 3 and 4, because this is the only combination of four different numbers that adds up to ten.

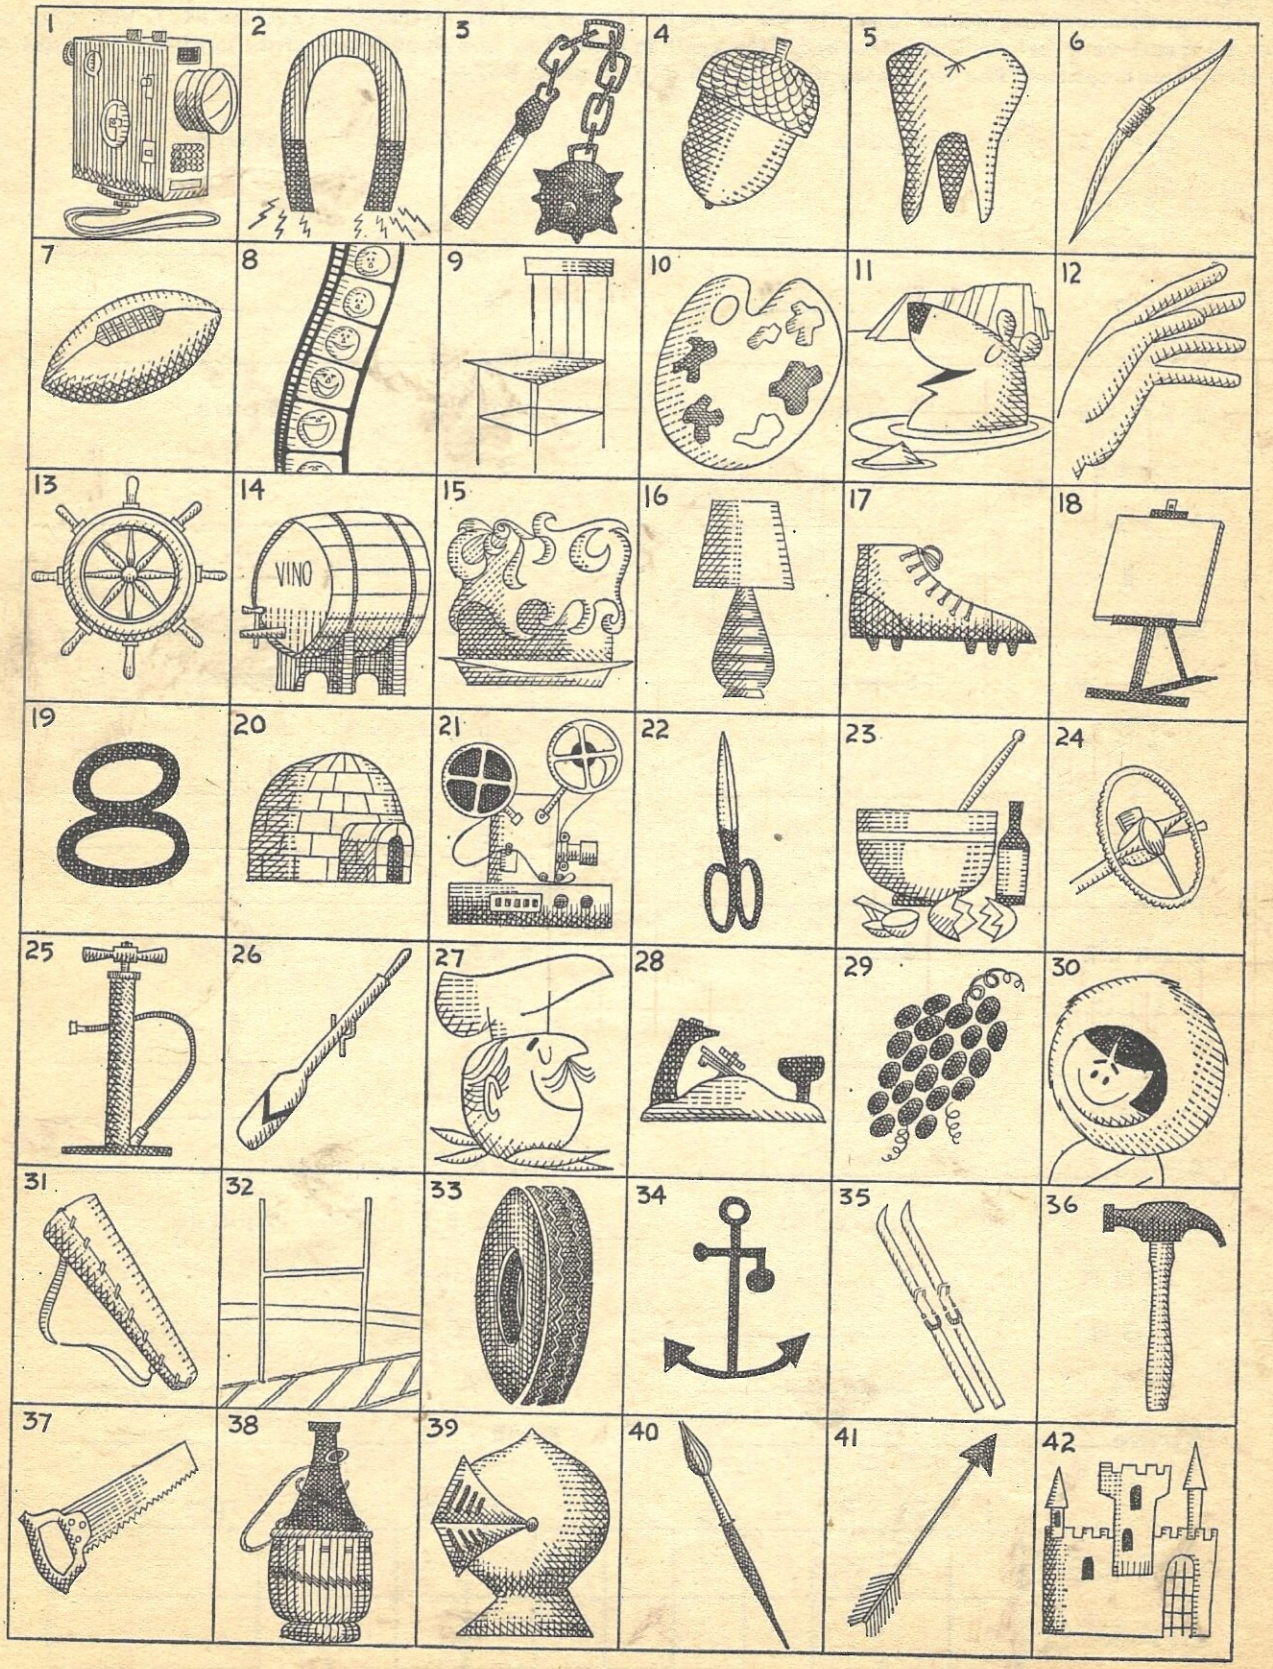
CATEGORICAL PICTURES

In the puzzle below, your job is to match the pictures according to categories. There will be three matching pictures in each group. When you are through, you should have 9 pictures left over; the first letter of each of these items will spell out a 9-letter word meaning unequaled.

Answers are on page 62.



BOWL-A-SCORE CHALLENGER

In this bowling game, your "pins" are the groups of letters below. In order to score a "strike," you will have to make one 10-letter word from the 10 scrambled letters in each group. In this Bowl-A-Score Challenger all the words to be formed are U. S. cities (some of which are two words, like Jefferson City). If you can't get the city, try for two words with no leftover letters in the group. This will score as a "spare". Give yourself 20 points for each "strike", and 10 points for a "spare" in the scoreboard at the bottom of the page. No proper names allowed for the "spares".

WARNING: this bowling game is really for experts. If you get six "strikes" (120 points), you may consider yourself very bright indeed—four "strikes" is still 'way above average. Only geniuses will get ALL the strikes and spares. The words we made are listed on page 65.

PERPLEXING PROVERBS

A proverb is supposed to be a well-known saying that states an obvious truth. Yet there are some well-known proverbs that seem to contradict each other. For example: "Opposites attract opposites" and "Birds of a feather flock together". For each proverb listed below there is at least one other that says the opposite. Can you find one for each of them?

Our answers are on page 66.

1. One man's meat is another man's poison.
2. Out of sight, out of mind.
3. Too many cooks spoil the broth.
4. With age comes wisdom.

1 ANACROSTIC

by MILDRED PEKELSMA

Using the definitions at the left, fill the words into the WORDS column. Then transfer the letters from the WORDS column into the corresponding places in the diagram. It is not necessary to know more than a few words to begin solving. Work back and forth from diagram to WORDS column until both are filled in. A black square denotes the end of a word. Your completed diagram will yield a quotation, and the first letter of each word in the WORDS column, reading down, will spell out the author and the work quoted. Word lists, page 66. Answers, page 65.

PURPOSE OF GAME

The object of this game of word solitaire is to gain the highest score possible. To do so, you form words using letters from a pre-determined list, placing them on squares of a specified value so that the words are formed both across (always from the left) and down (always from the top).

HOW TO PLAY SOLICROSS

1. Write across on first line of DRAW column the first seven letters from the LETTER LIST. Indicate the last letter used from the list by a dot or a line (/).
2. Form a word using two or more of these letters. Names of people and places are not allowed, and only common English words may be used. Place either beginning letter or end letter of this word on square indicated by a circle, filling in the other letters of this word either from left to right, or from top to bottom (never from right to left, or bottom to top). Do not place letters on any blacked-out square. Add up score (see 6 below) and enter in score column. Scratch (/) in the DRAW column the letters used in the words.
3. Copy all unused letters of DRAW on the next line, adding enough letters from LETTER LIST (in sequence) to bring next DRAW up to seven letters.
4. Form new words from each DRAW by adding one or more letters to an existing word so as to form a new word or words. All letters from any one DRAW must be used, in only one row, either across or down. Only complete words may be formed. Letters adjoining other letters must always form a word, in cross-word form.
5. Form new words by:
   1. Adding one or more letters to an existing word, at the beginning or end, or both.
   2. Setting a new word at right angles to an existing word, incorporating one of its letters or adding to it.
   3. Placing a new word parallel to one already written down so that the letters adjoining also form words.
6. Score each time you complete one DRAW. Add together all numbers in the corners of the squares used to form or modify words. If a word has been changed by adding a letter or letters, count the entire word again. Two or more words formed at the same time are each counted; the square common to both new words is counted with each word. Words within words are not counted. Write your DRAW score in SCORE column and your accumulated score at the bottom of the column.
7. If it becomes impossible to use any letters from a given DRAW, scratch all seven letters and subtract 25 points from your score for the DRAW.
8. When the DRAW column is complete, the game is finished whether or not all the letters from the LETTER LIST have been used. If all letters from the LETTER LIST are used up at any point before this, add 50 to score and count the game as complete.
9. When you finish with the puzzle, the same word must not appear twice in the diagram.
10. There is no absolute answer but an average game of 387 is shown on page 66.
    When you have completed the game, you may play it again by making your own diagram and reversing the order of the letter list.

ANACROSTICS

1. Author: Henry B(eetle) Hough
Work: *COUNTRY EDITOR

"One reader . . . sent all our bills back in the mail with the words scrawled on them, 'I will pay in equitable time.' . . . Waiting . . . six months this man sent his check and said, 'This is what I call equitable time. Half the year you take a chance, and half the year I take a chance.' "

* By permission of Henry Beetle Hough. Published by Doubleday and Co. Copyright 1940 by Henry Beetle Hough.

2. Author: (Archie) Robertson
Work: *SLOW TRAIN TO YESTERDAY
(A Last Glance at the Local)

"Outsiders . . . were not always able . . . to stop a through train . . . once . . . portly William Howard Taft . . . could not persuade the station agent . . . at a prairie town . . . Finally with an eye to his three hundred pounds, he had an inspiration. 'Tell them to stop for a large party,' he said."

* By permission of the publisher, Houghton, Mifflin Company.

3. Author: Fred Allen
Work: *MUCH ADO ABOUT ME

"The smalltime vaudeville mother had the endurance of a doorknob. She did three or four shows a day as part of the act. She cared for her baby on the road and prepared its food . . . There was always a clothesline dripping . . . and sinks filled with diapers."

* From MUCH ADO ABOUT ME by Fred Allen, Copyright © 1956, by Portland Hoffa Allen (pseudonym for Mary Portland Sullivan), by permission of Little, Brown and Company. Published by Atlantic Monthly Press.

4. Author: Harry L. Golden
Work: *ENJOY! ENJOY!

"Among the Jewish people on the East Side of New York . . . the father was the big man . . . The mother never betrayed her power . . . When a family was confronted with a major decision, she made it . . . then told the master privately . . . At . . . supper . . . she said, 'Children, your father has something . . . to tell you.' "

* By permission of the publisher, The World Publishing Company.

5. Author: P(hilip) Eisenberg
Work: WHY WE ACT AS WE DO*

"Anthropologists doubt that waging war is instinctive since they have found that warring does not occur all over the world. Some peoples have never known war at all. Eskimos . . . find war so unthinkable that they do not even have a word for it in their language."

* Published by Alfred A. Knopf.
Copyright 1946 by Philip Eisenberg.

4. Author: Edith Hamilton
Work: [THE] *ECHO OF GREECE

"Freedom was born in Greece because there men limited their own freedom. Fundamental in the Greeks was their conviction that limits were good . . . Exaggeration was foreign to them . . . Not only the everyday men but the thinkers and artists kept a firm hold on reality."

* By permission of the publisher, W. W. Norton & Company.

7. Author: (Ancel* & Margaret) Keys
Work: *EAT WELL AND STAY WELL

"Never choose a bread because it is cheap . . . Premium priced breads are usually well worth the extra price . . . Try the 'squeeze test'. If the bread squashes easily and bulges back into shape, drop it; it is probably not poisonous, merely inedible."

* One of the developers of the World War II "K" Ration.

8. Author: Bert Bacharach
Work: *NOW SEE HERE

" 'Alas, times are not what they used to be. Everyone wants to write a book and children are no longer obedient to their parents.' (That came from the Presse Papyrus in the Istanbul Museum. It is six thousand years old—the oldest piece of writing in existence!)"

* From the column "Now See Here" by Bert Bacharach, published in The New York Journal-American of October 12, 1962. Used with the permission of the publisher.

A COLORFUL CHOICE

One man took Mr. Green's hat and Mr. Brown's coat. Since each man took someone else's hat and coat this had to be either Mr. White or Mr. Black. Since we have been told Mr. Black took Mr. White's hat, Mr. White got Mr. Green's hat and Mr. Brown's coat. Since Mr. Brown didn't get his own hat he must have taken Mr. Black's. Since we are told that the hat taken by Mr. Brown (Mr. Black's) belonged to the owner of the coat taken by Mr. Green, Mr. Green must have taken Mr. Black's coat.

CRYPTOGRAMS

1. To make a man really happy, try treating him like a dog—with lots of affection and a loose leash.
2. The better half of wisdom is in being wise at the right time.
3. The most positive method for parents to use so that their offspring have a good education is to pull a few wires—hi-fi, ignition and television.
4. You cannot buy the best advertising—for it is written on the wagging tongues of satisfied customers.
5. Punctuality is the art of guessing precisely how late the other guy will be.
6. The secret of the word triumph is completely contained within its first syllable.
7. One can not be very bright if he decides nest eggs are only for the birds.
8. Some people stuff wild duck with so many things it is far more like taxidermy than cooking.
9. At one time the fool and his money were soon parted; now it happens to us all.
10. Ships in harbor are safe, yet that is not what they were destined for.
11. Bachelor: a fellow who can take naps on top of the bedspread.
12. Man may fail many times but is not a failure until he starts to blame someone else.
13. They say it's far better to be a young June bug than an old bird of paradise.
14. A child rarely learns how educational his newest toy really is until his dad trips over it.
15. Friends should be like seats on the fifty-yard-line—few, but choice.
16. When you feel dog-tired at night, it may be because you growled all day.

OFFICIAL Communique

Ho-hum. Spring fever? After working on Crossword 18, "Salad Days", and the Kriss Krosses in this issue about "'South-Sea Honeymoon" and "Found in Summer Fields", the spring-summer feeling has crept into the hearts and heads of ye editors. Oh, to stroll into one of those Summer Fields, lazily look for 4-leaf clovers, dream. . . .

Dear Editor: First, let me say that Official and Dell Crossword Puzzles are the best all-round of their kind—and I have tried all of them. Please don't change the format! Often I wish there were less easy puzzles since I feel duty-bound to do the whole magazine before going on to the new issue (the Scotch in my otherwise amalgamated ancestry asserting itself, no doubt). Of course, I realize that the very easy puzzles are necessary for beginners—after all, I remember when even the simplest ones were bugaboos to me.

I have had a love affair with cryptograms since first we met, and the only suggestion I have is give us more really hard ones. Never, never, give up Solicross; and Bowl-A-Score Challenger should come along more often, if possible. I guess I could go on and on about Ted Shane, Diagramless, etc., to the exclusion of the original reason for this letter—to thank you for many hours of a delightful and constructive pastime.

Mrs. T. K., Rochester, Indiana

Thank you, Mrs. T. K.—it's always a joy to receive such a glowing letter.

Solvers are always eager to pass long to fellow solvers any discoveries they have made that make their puzzling more enjoyable. The following letters are from two such solvers.

Dear Editors: I have been doing crossword puzzles since about 1920, and have been getting every issue of the Dell crossword magazines for a good many years. I feel they are the best on the newsstand because I do not enjoy puzzles that contain too many foreign words or odd words that are English but are not even in an unabridged dictionary! I am crazy about Solicross puzzles. They are really interesting. I bought a pad of squared paper and do each one many times. I start at different places in the Letter List and use different diagram layouts. They have been wonderful for me as I have been recovering from surgery and have had a lot of time on my hands. Thanks for your very interesting and educational magazines.

Mrs. G. A., St. Paul, Minnesota

Dear Editor: I like every issue of OFFICIAL CROSSWORDS and I have a suggestion for Diagramless fans: take a 6" by 6" cardboard and mark it into 21 by 21 squares. Cover it with transparent paper and clip it over the large crossword puzzle diagrams. Presto—extra big Diagramless puzzles at no extra cost! Solicross did not appeal to me until my daughter showed me how she did them, and, begorra, I dug up all my old OFFICIALS and got busy! Hope you flourish for 22 years more!

Mrs. B. D., Norwalk, Ohio

Dear Editor: DELL magazines are tops with me. I am a very avid puzzler, and prefer to work all puzzles with a pen. Your magazine paper will take ink, which is more than I can say for some others. Thank you for putting the puzzle diagrams toward the outside edge of the page where they can be worked with the magazine folded back. I am especially fond of Diagramless and Anacrostics, and would like more of them in each issue. Here is a very special request I would like to make. Would you please give the order of the words you use in your Solicross solutions? Thank you for many hours of pleasure.

Mrs. C. W., Noblesville, Indiana

We read your letter with interest, Mrs. C. W., especially your special request. There is not always room on the answer pages for such detailed explanations, but in this issue, under the Solicross solution, you will find a list of the words used in solving Solicross, in order.

The mail has been pouring in in response to the Senor Sombrero contest in April-May OFFICIAL (to those of you solvers who missed it in last issue's Communique—sorry, but the contest is now over). OFFICIAL solvers are surely a clever and perceptive group, indeed—there are, so far, quite a few correct answers. The answers and notes that accompanied them—even some of the replies that were incorrect—were quite imaginative and "chuckly". Don't forget—the correct answers to what Senor Sombrero was really doing will appear in the August-September issue of OFFICIAL on this page.

Good news for all puzzle fans everywhere! Because of popular demand, there will be a second big, all-new 1963 DELL CROSSWORD ANNUAL! It will be a super-summer edition and will be available at your newsstands on June 27th—just in time for some extra solving on your vacation, whether at home or away.

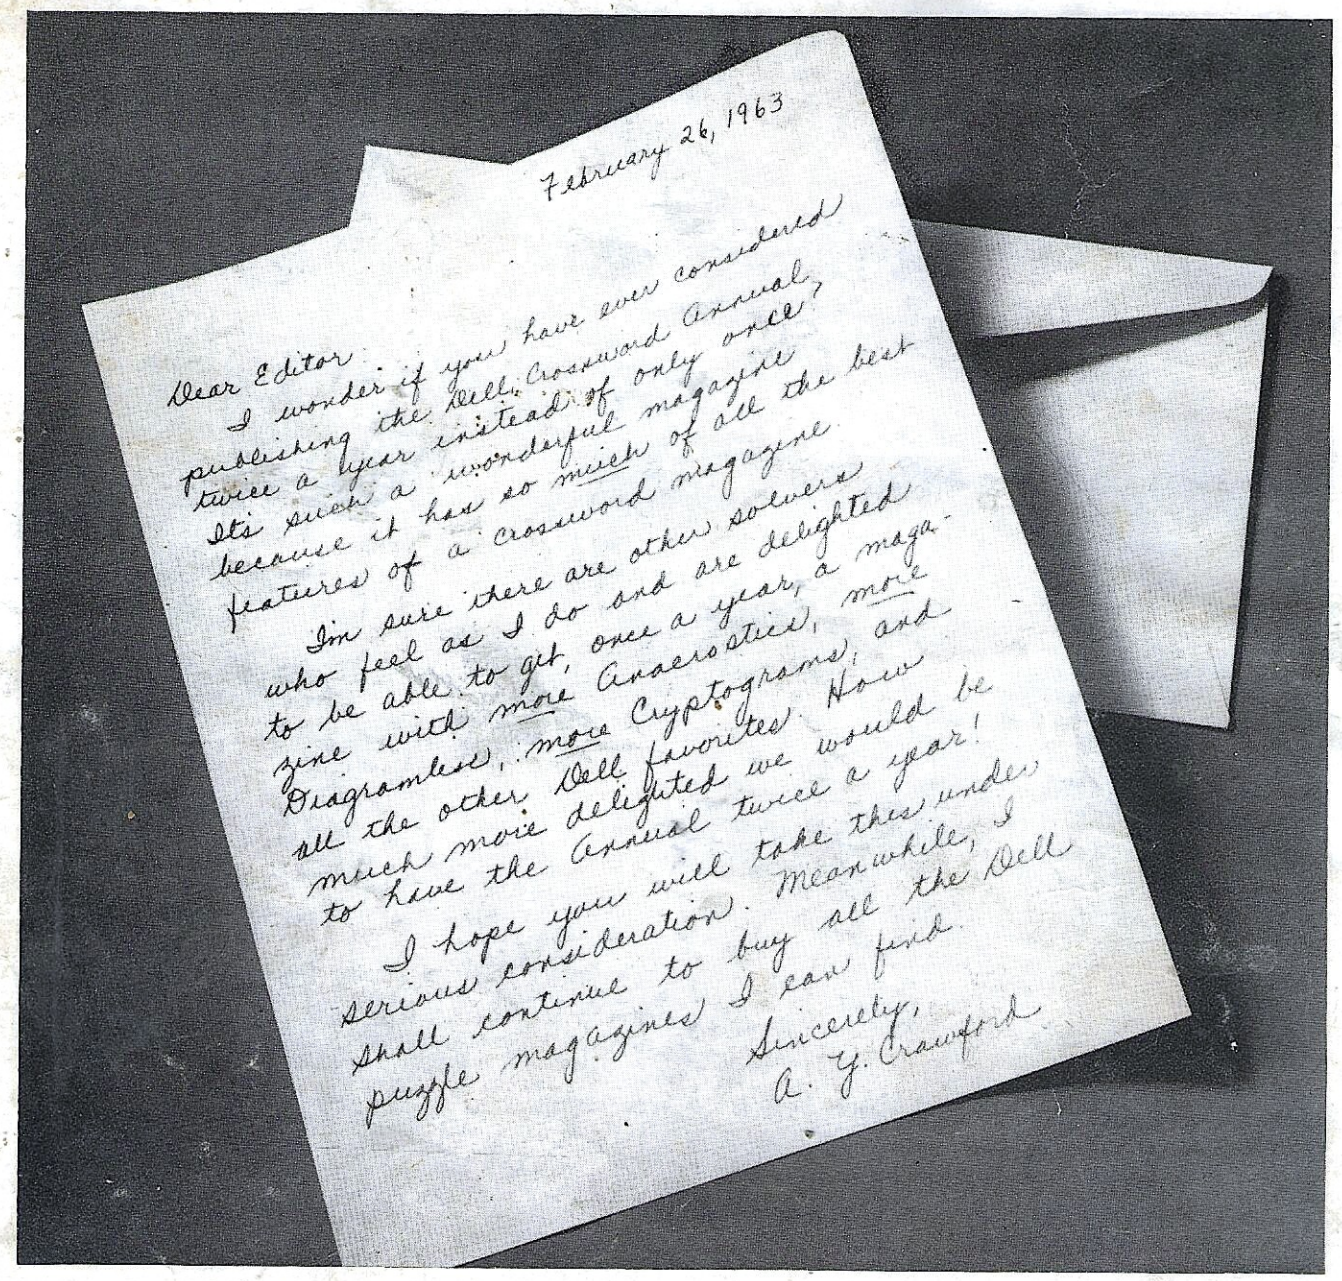
Don't forget Dell's other vacation-time favorite:

DELL KRISS KROSS PUZZLES #11 35¢

This magazine with over 70 Kriss Kross is a solving delight for the entire family! It will be available at your local newsstand June 4th.

See the back cover and the inside front cover for more detailed information about these two special magazines. And don't forget to visit your local newsstand soon and reserve your copies of both of these wonderful Dell "extras".

August-September OFFICIAL CROSSWORDS will be on sale June 27th.



February 26, 1963
Dear Editor
I wonder if you have ever considered publishing the Dell Crossword Annual twice a year instead of only once? It's such a wonderful magazine because it has so much of all the best features of a crossword magazine. I'm sure there are other solvers who feel as I do and are delighted to be able to get, once a year, a magazine with more Anagramless, more Cryptograms, and all the other Dell favorites. How much more delighted we would be to have the Annual twice a year! I hope you will take this under serious consideration. Meanwhile, I shall continue to buy all the Dell puzzle magazines I can find.
Sincerely,
A. Y. Crawford

Dear A. Y. Crawford (and all other puzzle fans):

We received so many similar letters that we gave the matter serious consideration, and we are happy to report the answer is YES! We don't know all the details yet so we can't tell you what the cover will look like; but DELL CROSSWORD ANNUAL #12 will be on sale in time for you to take it along when you go on vacation. Jot this down on your "remember" list:
